Chacon
vs
Baca

In the Supreme Court
September Term 1849

Appellant assigns the following errors—

1st. That the deeds offered in evidence made out a clear title to the land in controversy, which have not been rebutted by contrary proof—

2d. That the testimony of witnesses [illegible] that the aboriginal Indians, which form a part of the northern boundary of the Labor excludes the possibility of any measure which would make the Labor of 40 hundreds (from Baca to Chacon house) there is demanded in the declaration, Readily to which Baca house is entirely or partially in the land of Chacon—

3d. That the grant pinpointed for testimony is in favor of the claim asserted by Chacon.

4th. That the Court refused instructions in the favor of the plaintiff to which he was entitled.

5th. That the Court gave instructions in behalf of defendants, which are contrary to the law.

Wherefore &c. &c. prays &c.
